ABOUT

Handcrafted

JP Reimer is the head designer and woodworker at Claterpult. Designing is part of JP's DNA. His great grandfather was a machinist, and that legacy has been passed down through generations. The Claterpult shop is the latest addition to this legacy.

Using age old techniques results in a finished product that is thoughtfully crafted with careful attention to detail. Collaborating, designing, and building are all done through our local shop.

OUR STYLE

INSPIRATION

We are influenced by nature, mesmerized by wood grain, and seduced by the simplicity of Danish design.

A table has been a meeting place throughout history. When people come together at a table, lives change. It has been the center-piece for creating and sharing ideas, supporting each other in times of need, planning and dreaming of the future, celebrating, sharing a meal, or changing the world.

We are proud to make this possible. From a simple table to share food, to a coffee table where we tell stories and gather with friends - these tables are for generations.

PROJECT ZERO

SUSTAINABILITY

Project Zero is our attempt to become a zero waste operation. We aim to use every piece of wood that comes through our doors. The wood we transform comes from all around us which is why protecting the environment is a core value of Claterpult Woodworks.

Project Zero in action:

We bring our sawdust to a local farmer who uses it for his horses stalls

Hardwood scraps are used for small projects

We are in the process of eliminating all single use plastics, including mixing cups and plastic gloves

We use reclaimed wood as much as possible

STAND OUT

Adding unique coffee tables, live edge bar tops, or the perfect dining room table will really make your space stand out.

If you have a design in mind, contact us to bring that idea to life. If you are not sure what you need, let's set up a call to get the creative juices flowing. We specialize in designing pieces unique to the space that it will live and we want to bring your personality into this one of a kind furniture.

White Oak

- Straight grained with a medium to coarse texture
- Strong and durable
- Light to medium brown

Ash

- Grain pattern similar to oak
- Durable but lightweight

Douglas Fir

- Light brown with a hint of red
- Distinctive grain pattern
- One of the denser softwoods

Walnut

- Rich dark brown colour with some lighter tones
- Straight or wavy grain
- Durable and classic

MATERIALS

LOCALLY SOURCED

Claterpult is proud to source materials locally, from Squamish to Seattle. We aim to use the materials in our own backyard. These are the wood grains that inspire us to design thoughtfully.

We choose from a variety of species, varying in hardness, durability, price, and appearance. This means that we can find the perfect solution to fit your image and budget.

As always, custom sizing and colour finishes are an option.
